

THE
NOT SO

NEWLYWED CHRONICLES

NINETEENTH NOTABLE ISSUE

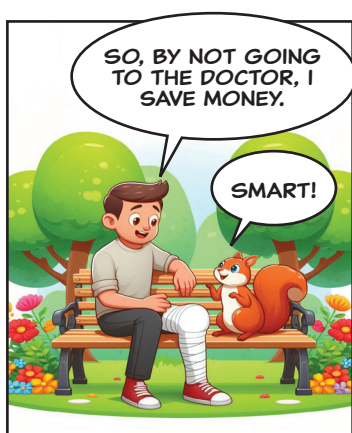

2024 started off looking like a very good year. In February, our couple spent a few weeks enjoying the sights and sounds of Miami, the Everglades, Big Cypress and Sanibel Island. Then ...

In March, the couple's dryer broke down.

In April, Mark's knee began to mysteriously swell up.

In June, a garbage truck sideswiped their car. Totaled!

In July, the couple spent 4 hours of quality time together heading to the family reunion.

In July, a tree fell grazing the house. In August, a second tree toppled puncturing the roof.

In October, they decided the trees closest to the house must come down.

In September, due to heavy rain and drought, our couple's garden didn't stand a chance.

In November, Deb's father continued to suffer from an unknown illness.

There is a silver lining to our story.

Deb's father is recovering, we have a new dryer, a new (used) electric car, a new roof, Mark is playing ball again and, now that sunlight reaches the yard, the couple has plans to create a permaculture paradise.

Life is certainly interesting and we're so glad to have our friends and family helping us along the way.

Happy Holidays! Deb & Mark

TO BE CONTINUED...